

FARRIL MILAM. This is a photographic copy of an old daguerreotype of Farril Milam, son of Bartlett Milam and his wife, Elizabeth. Farril Milam was born in Halifax County, Virginia; moved in 1796, with his parents, to Laurens, District, South Carolina; and with his spinster sister, Nancy Milam, moved to Bartow (then Cass) County, Georgia, in 1850. He never married. He died December 21, 1869, aged 83 years. Is buried in the Presbyterian Graveyard at Euharlee, Georgia. The daguerreotype is now (1929) in the possession of Charles M. Milam, Cartersville, Ga.

Mountville, South Carolina.

Dear Mrs. Milam:

I have received your letter of October 29, 1930, in reply to mine of a few days previous. I have read it with a great deal of interest and pleasure. I was very very glad to get the information regarding the Paslays and the Milams, all of it is valuable to us. Specially interested in what you tell us about the Revolutionary record of Robert Paslay. If you could give us such references and authorities for it as would be acceptable to the patriotic societies it certainly would greatly please some of the connections who have not heretofore had records making them eligible for membership, and also to others for use as supplementary lines. Will you please give us what you can in this connection.

I enclose a few sheets to show you my Milam line, so far as we have it. I am a son of the late James Cothran Milam, who was a son of Madison Milam by his second wife (Dorothy Cothran). Madison was a son of William, son of Bartlett, SR. I was born in Bartow County, Georgia, in 1862, and have lived in Atlanta, Georgia, since 1885.

Also I ~~xxxxxxx~~ send you herewith a photographic copy of an old daguerreotype of Farril Milam, son of Bartlett, SR. and a picture of the Farril Milam tombstone. You may keep all the enclosures. I would be glad to have your comments on these records and point out any inaccuracies.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,
H.M.Milam.

COPY - MEMORANDUM. October 9, 1930 by H. M. Milam, Atlanta, Ga.

JOHN MILAM, Sen'r, (born about 1725) lived in Halifax County, Virginia. His home was on Bradley's Creek, a stream with headwaters near Republican Grove and emptying into the Banister River in the Meadville district. It is believed that he had formerly lived in Louisa County, Virginia. The earliest entry in deed to him from John Stuart dated October 1, 1764, conveying 700 acres of land on Bradley's Creek. The enumerations of heads of families of the County of Halifax, State of Virginia, for the year 1782 includes John Milam, Sen'r. He was living in 1788. He had sons (may not be in order of births): Bartlett, Samuel, Benjamin, John, Thomas, James.

BARTLETT MILAM, Sen'r, son of John Milam, Sen'r. He acquired lands on Bradley's Creek in Halifax County, Virginia. The deed conveying this land dated November 16, 1775. In the land records of Halifax County are seven entries of deeds to and from Bartlett Milam. On February 25, 1796 he sold his lands in Halifax County, Virginia, and removed, with his family, to
